Step 3: Your Keys to Success with trading

Now that you've got the strategy in hand, let's break down how to actually put it to work, the right way.

We're not just here to throw setups at the wall and hope they stick.

We want precision, consistency, and profitability, and that comes from mastering these key principles:

1. Understand Liquidity First
Before you even think about placing a trade, you need to understand where price is most likely to go, and that means learning how liquidity works.

Here's what to focus on:

- Equal Highs & Lows – These are magnets for price, and obvious stop hunts.
- Trendline liquidity - Price loves to sweep these, especially after a clean 3-touch formation.
- Session-Based Liquidity - Each market session leaves behind pools of liquidity at the highs and lows.

You'll start to notice a pattern: price moves to take out liquidity before giving clean reactions.

Pro Tip:
Use session indicators on TradingView like LuxAlgo or FX Market Sessions.

➔ Once you've applied the indicator mark the highs/lows of each session, then hide the indicator to keep your chart clean. What you're looking for is price to peerge liquidity at any of these highs/lows then form an ilm that you'd can use to enter a trade.

That's your roadmap.

2. Always Trade Major Market Sessions...

Why?

Because that's when the market actually moves, and movement = opportunity.

These are the sessions to lock into:

- London: 8AM–12PM GMT
- New York: 8AM–12PM EST
- Asia: 8PM–12AM EST

Each new session tends to sweep the liquidity left behind by the one before it. That's where we strike.

Wait for liquidity to be taken (a sweep), then spot your ILM formation, and enter your trade.

Target? The next most obvious draw of liquidity.

Don't get greedy. Take clean 2R - 5R and get out.

3. Use Top-Down Confirmation

Let's say you spot an ILM setup on the 15M, great.

But if you also see confirmation across the 30M or 1H (like a sweep or displacement from a key zone), your confluence goes way up.

That's a high-probability trade.

More confluence = more confidence in execution.

4. Stick to High-Volume Pairs

Want to avoid fakeouts and choppy messes?

Trade clean pairs.

Stick to coins with volume and structure:

- ETH/USDT
- BTC/USDT
- SOL, SUI, or a few other top 10 coins

Avoid low-cap coins or random altcoins.

The smaller the market cap, the messier the price action.

Pro Tip:

Focus on just 1–2 pairs and learn how they move.

Over time, you'll build an intuition that makes entries feel effortless.

5. Best Timeframe to Use
Start on the 15-minute timeframe, that's the sweet spot for ILM.

It gives you enough structure without overwhelming you.

Once you've got experience and want to refine your entries, drop down to the 5-minute for more precision.

But don't rush.

Master the 15M first, it'll teach you patience, structure, and discipline.

Recap:

To use ILM successfully in the WOW 2025 comp:

- Focus on liquidity sweeps and displacements
- Trade during major sessions ONLY
- Stick to clean, high-volume pairs
- Use top-down analysis for confidence
- Master 15M entries before scaling down

When applied properly, this strategy has returned:

- Consistent 2R–5R trades
- Monthly profits tracked across 1,000+ traders
- Documented setups, win rates, average trade durations, and total performance

The data is there.

The strategy is proven.

All that's left is for you to apply it. and extract profits on BloFin.

Step 4: Prep Your Trading Account

Now that you understand how the strategy works, let's get your account ready to actually place trades, and generate the volume you need to qualify for prizes.

Here's how to set up your account on BloFin:

1. Fund your account with USDT
2. Head to the Futures section
3. Select a clean pair like ETH/USDT or BTC/USDT
4. Set your leverage (If you're new to leverage, start with 15x–25x. You can scale up as you build confidence.) Tap here for video

Quick Breakdown: What Is Leverage?

Leverage lets you control a larger trade size with less capital.

It's the key to making smaller accounts go further, and it plays a huge role in how you'll qualify for prizes in WOW2025.

Let's say you're trading with $100:

- At 25x leverage, your position size becomes $2,500
- At 50x, it's $5,000
- At 100x, you're controlling $10,000

That means if your trade moves 2%, your return is based on the leveraged size, not your starting balance.

✔ Higher leverage = more volume generated for the comp
✔ Higher leverage = larger profit potential when the setup is right

So you're not only qualifying faster, you're increasing your potential take-home on winning trades, which is the dream, right?

Of course, leverage is a double-edged sword. It can amplify gains and losses. That's why we're going to pair it with a solid risk management plan in the next step, so you can use it with confidence.

How Much Volume Are You Generating?
Here's exactly how much trading volume different position sizes + leverage combinations generate:

| Trade Size | 25x Leverage | 50x Leverage | 100x Leverage |
|---|---|---|---|
| $10 | $250 | $500 | $1,000 |
| $100 | $2,500 | $5,000 | $10,000 |
| $500 | $12,500 | $25,000 | $50,000 |
| $1,000 | $25,000 | $50,000 | $100,000 |
| $5,000 | $125,000 | $250,000 | $500,000 |

Goal to Qualify: $10,000+ in taker volume (market orders or limit orders that get filled immediately).

So even a $100 trade using 100x leverage qualifies you for the prize pools.

Pro Tip: Use a leverage calculator before every trade to help you

- Set your position size based on your risk %
- Know exactly how much volume you'll generate
- Place stop losses with confidence

Use this leverage trading calculator to map it out: Tap for calculator

Step 5: Risk Management Plan (Built for a $1,000 Account)

In a comp like WOW2025, risk management isn't just about protection it's about controlled aggression.

You're here to generate volume, make profits, and grow.

But if your risk is scattered and emotional, you'll blow it before the leaderboard updates.

Here's a smart, battle-tested plan based on a $1,000 starting account:

Position Sizing: 1–10% Risk Model:

- Risk $10–$100 per trade
- Your position size depends on:
  - Your stop loss in $ or %
  - The leverage used
- Bigger setups (clean ILMs on 15M with multiple confluences)?
- You can lean toward 10% risk.

But always use a stop loss, never let a losing trade run "just to see."

Daily Rules for Risking Capital:

- Max 2 trades per day.
  - If you lose both, call it. Don't "earn it back."

- If your first trade wins, scale back or walk away.
  - Green days should end green, that's how you compound.

- Never risk more than 30% of the profits made that day.
  - Protect the bag. Let the next day offer new setups.

Track Everything You Do
Use your trade journal to log:

- Entry / Exit
- Position size & risk %
- Trade reasoning
- Outcome (W/L + R-multiple)
- Session (London, NY, Asia)

Grab your journal template here → Tap Here

When you're taking more risk, data helps you stay sharp.

Compounding Smart:

- If you win consistently, start calculating 1–10% based on your new balance each week.
- This gives you higher position sizes, higher volume, and more prize potential, without getting reckless.

Example:
- Start: $1,000
- Week 2: $1,150
- Now 10% risk = $115 instead of $100
- You've scaled, safely.
